SUBJECT: Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms-
Identification of Subjects in Agency Regulations

1. Attachment A, copy of Part II, Federal Register, 22 January 1981, provides details of a final rule for a new and expanded Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms. The purpose of this rule is to provide consistency and standard language throughout the Federal Register and Code of Federal Regulations, and to assist readers to more readily and completely identify regulations of interest to them. Beginning 1 April 1982, all Agencies will be required to forward a list of index terms when sending documents for publication (whether proposed or final rule).

2. As required, the Agency has submitted a list of index terms for those items already published. The index terms selected as applying to the Agency's regulations and which identify major areas subject to Federal regulations are: freedom of information, privacy, and classified information.

3. Beginning immediately, please choose the appropriate index term or terms and include as the last item in the Supplementary Information portion of the preamble of each document being submitted for publication in the Federal Register.

4. Attachment B, copy of the Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms, dated 17 February 1981, is attached for your retention and reference. Should you have any questions, please contact the undersigned, extension for assistance.

ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE OF
THE FEDERAL REGISTER

1 CFR Part 18

Identification of Subjects in Agency RegulationsAGENCY: Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (ACFR).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This regulation requires agencies to identify major topics and categories of persons affected in their regulations by using standard terms established in the Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms. Increased public need for information on regulations has led to interest in more comprehensive indexes and information services for the Federal Register (FR) and Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). Requiring agencies to identify the subjects in their regulations in standard terms from the Thesaurus will help readers to locate all the regulations that affect or are of interest to them. It will also help the Office of the Federal Register (OFR) expand its information services to the public directly and through published finding aids.

DATES: Effective date: February 23, 1981.Implementation dates:

By December 31, 1981, Agencies must prepare a list of index terms for existing CFR Parts and send the list to the Director of the Federal Register.

Beginning April 1, 1982, Agencies must include a list of index terms for each CFR Part affected in documents submitted for publication in the Rules and Regulations and Proposed Rules sections of the Federal Register.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Carol Mahoney, Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20408, Telephone (202) 523-5266.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

The public's right to know about and participate in their Government and its day-to-day activities is protected by the Federal Register Act, the Administrative Procedure Act, and the Freedom of Information, Privacy and Government in the Sunshine Acts. These laws and other specific legislation require that public notice of agency regulations, proposed regulations, meetings, record systems, and administrative procedures be printed in the Federal Register.

Agency compliance with these laws requiring publication produced 78,000 pages of Federal Register material in fiscal year 1980 and 93,000 pages in the Code of Federal Regulations. The Code of Federal Regulations is an annually revised compilation of the general and permanent regulations published in the Federal Register. The Federal Register and Code of Federal Regulations' purpose is to be a communication link between Federal agencies and the public. Viewed as an information system for the public, these publications have many of the problems common to large information systems: An increasing volume of material; complex information on a variety of subjects; specialized technical language; and a diverse group of users increasingly demanding easy access to the system.

This regulation begins to address these problems in several ways.

First, this regulation sets up a specific requirement that agencies be responsible for identifying the major topics and persons affected in their regulations.

The increasing volume and complexity of material in the FR/CFR system has led us to the conclusion that the originators of the regulations, the agencies, are best able to analyze their regulations and provide the most relevant information for indexing and retrieval purposes.

Second, this regulation requires that agencies use standard terms, specifically the Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms, to identify subject areas and persons affected in their regulations.

Federal Register users frequently find the same or similar material described in different terms by different Government agencies. The same material may be indexed or referenced in other terms in the FR/CFR system. The use of a controlled vocabulary, a thesaurus, is intended to improve research and provide a framework for information retrieval in the Federal Register system by standardizing the language used to identify and search major areas subject to Federal regulation. The identifying terms provided by the agencies with their regulations will be used at the OFR to expand the existing indexes to both the Federal Register and the Code of Federal Regulations. Through the use of automated technology the identifying terms will also be incorporated with the CFR text in a computerized data base for eventual automated information retrieval.

Third, this regulation will be implemented in stages.

By December 31, 1981, each agency shall prepare and submit to the Director of the Federal Register a list of index terms for its existing CFR Parts.

Beginning April 1, 1982, each agency that submits a document for publication in the Rules and Regulations or Proposed Rules sections of the Federal Register shall include a list of index terms for each CFR Part affected by the document.

Proposed Rule and Comments

We published four previous documents on this subject: an advance notice of proposed rulemaking (ANPRM) and an extension of the comment period on the ANPRM (45 FR 2993; January 15, 1980, and 45 FR 13715; February 20, 1980), a proposed rule (45 FR 40033; July 9, 1980), and a change to the proposed rule (45 FR 40035; July 23, 1980). Comments on the ANPRM and our response were detailed in the proposed rule document of July 9, 1980. We received 26 written comments on the proposed rule as well as a number of telephone calls. The majority of these comments were from Federal agencies. In the following paragraphs we discuss the comments received.

Implementation plan

Generally, agencies viewed the proposed rule as more workable than the ANPRM. The ANPRM would have required each agency to prepare a list of subjects for each new part as it was added to the agency's regulation and eventually to compile subject lists for all existing CFR parts. The proposed rule reversed the implementation schedule to require that each agency first prepare a list of subjects for existing regulations. We received the following comment from one department: "Several agencies commented that the revised schedule would be helpful to their efforts. They anticipate that the information gathered from the Office of the Federal Register comments on their list of terms for existing regulations will assist in the selection of appropriate terms for future documents."

Implementation Dates

In this final rule, as in the proposed rule, December 31, 1981, is the date by which agencies must prepare a list of index terms for their existing regulations and send the list to the Director of the Federal Register. We are extending the date for including lists of index terms in Federal Register documents, however, from January 1, 1982, the date in the proposed rule, to April 1, 1982. This will provide a 3-month period between the date the initial lists are compiled and submitted to the Director of the Federal Register and the date when agencies must start including terms with their Federal Register documents. During this period the Office of the Federal Register will review the lists, consult with agencies, and update and publish a revised edition of the Thesaurus for future agency use in preparing lists of terms for their Federal Register documents. We encourage agencies to prepare and submit their list of index terms for existing CFR parts at any time prior to the December 31, 1981, deadline. Once the lists of terms for existing CFR parts are reviewed at the Office of the Federal Register, agencies may also begin publishing lists of terms with Federal Register documents before the April 1, 1982, deadline.

Format

In our proposed rule we requested comments on format and placement for the subject lists to be included in Federal Register documents beginning April 1, 1982. We received no comments on format. This regulation specifies that the subject list be the last item in the "Supplementary Information" section of the preamble for Federal Register documents. This will place the subject list close to the regulatory text in each document.

Need for the Regulation

Several comments questioned the need for the regulation in light of already existing requirements for preambles and descriptive headings in agency documents.

While some agencies' documents have useful preambles and descriptive headings which help to explain and define the regulations, there is no consistency or standard language throughout the FR/CFR system. In order to thoroughly or effectively research a subject in the massive FR/CFR system there must be a consistently used term to identify that subject. This term, selected from the Thesaurus and used in information and index systems, will allow the public to pinpoint more easily all pertinent regulations on a particular subject.

Identifying Terms as Finding Aids

Comments on the effectiveness of the regulation centered on the concern that the identifying terms provided by agencies could be misleading, could cause a misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the regulation, and that failure to include all pertinent terms might lead to the regulations being overlooked.

One comment on the proposed rule expressed our position on this clearly. "We view this indexing requirement solely as a finding aid for those using the Federal Register and Code of Federal Regulations as a research tool * * * Clearly, the scope and application of a regulation must be determined by the wording of the regulation itself and not by the terms under which a regulation is indexed." In addition, 1 CFR 5.1(c) of the ACFR's regulations states:

(c) In prescribing regulations governing headings, preambles, effective dates, authority citations, and similar matters of form, the Administrative Committee does not intend to affect the validity of any document that is filed and published under law.

Federal Register Thesaurus

There was concern expressed in comments on the proposed rule that the terms in the Federal Register Thesaurus are too general and that the Thesaurus is not complete enough to help researchers or adequately describe agency programs.

We continue to stress that the existing Thesaurus is the beginning of a vocabulary for identifying major areas subject to Federal regulation, and that it will not only expand but also improve through use and with the suggestion of terms by agencies and Federal Register users. In addition, agencies may include terms in their lists of subjects that are not contained in the Thesaurus as long as the appropriate Thesaurus terms are also used.

Standard Industrial Classification

In developing this regulation, we considered requiring agencies to use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual (SIC), where possible, in addition to the Federal Register Thesaurus to identify major topics and persons affected in their regulations. We continue to recommend that when agencies include industry names in their list of subjects that they use the terminology in the SIC Manual. Some agencies already use SIC codes and terminology in the text of their regulations. The U.S. Regulatory Council recommends use of the SIC, where applicable, for entries in the Calendar of Federal Regulations. Agency use of SIC terminology in their subject lists would further the purpose of this regulation by providing FR/CFR researchers with additional standard terms for research. The requirement for using the SIC Manual has been dropped from the final rule since agency comments were not favorable, and no supporting comments were received from the public sector.

Thesaurus Publication

The Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms to be used by agencies in implementing this regulation will be printed in the Federal Register of Tuesday, February 17, 1981 as Part II.

Agencies wishing to order copies from the Government Printing Office may do so by submitting a completed Standard Form 1 (SF-1) by noon Friday, February 13, 1981, to: Planning Service Division, Government Printing Office.

Copies of the Thesaurus will also be available from the Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20540.

Training

Training and consultation to help agencies comply with this new requirement will be provided by the Office of the Federal Register. Training will include information on how to use the Thesaurus and how to analyze and apply the terms to specific agency regulations. We encourage agencies to decide who in the agency needs training and to make arrangements and schedule training well in advance of the December 31, 1981 deadline to allow OFR sufficient time to respond to all training requests.

To arrange for training, agencies should call: Carol Mahoney, Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20540, Telephone (202) 523-5266.

Rulemaking Authority

The Administrative Committee of the Federal Register is issuing this regulation under the Committee's authority in Title 44 of the United States Code, section 1508, to prescribe regulations for carrying out the Federal Register Act including " * * * the manner and form in which the Federal Register shall be printed, reprinted, and compiled, indexed, bound, and distributed; * * * "

Administrative Committee of the Federal Register

Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms

THE FEDERAL REGISTER

Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms

AGENCY: Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (ACFR).

ACTION: Publication of Thesaurus.

SUMMARY: The Administrative Committee of the Federal Register published a final rule in the Federal Register of January 22, 1981 (46 FR 7162).
This rule, 1 CFR 18.20, requires agencies to identify major topics and categories of persons affected in their regulations in standard terms from the Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms.
The Federal Register Thesaurus is published today for use by agencies and for public information.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
Carol Mahoney, Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records
Service, Washington, DC 20408,
Telephone (202) 523-5266.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Thesaurus

As stated in the final rule document published January 22, 1981, the requirement for agencies to identify the subjects in their regulations in standard terms from the Thesaurus will help Federal Register readers to locate more easily those regulations that affect or are of interest to them. It will also help the Office of the Federal Register expand its information services to the public directly and through published finding aids.

This first edition of the Thesaurus is the beginning of a basic vocabulary for identifying major areas subject to Federal regulation. The Thesaurus is intended to be a dynamic document that will expand and change through use and with the suggestion of terms by agencies and Federal Register users.

How To Use the Thesaurus

There are two sections to the Thesaurus. The first is an alphabetical list of all terms with a series of notations under each term to refer users to preferred or related terms. The second is a grouping of terms under 19 broad subject categories, allowing the user to determine quickly the existing Thesaurus terms for that broad subject.
Copies of the Thesaurus are available from the Office of the Federal Register,
National Archives and Records Service,
Washington, DC 20408.

Training

Training and consultation to help agencies comply with the final rule published January 22, 1981, will be provided by the Office of the Federal Register. Training will include information on how to use the Thesaurus and how to analyze and apply the terms to specific agency regulations. To allow Federal Register staff sufficient time to respond to all training requests, we encourage agencies to decide who in the agency needs training and to make arrangements and schedule training well in advance of the December 31, 1981, date for complying with the final rule.

To arrange for training agencies should call: Carol Mahoney, Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, DC, 20408, Telephone (202) 523-5266.

John E. Byrne,

Federal Register.*
